

PTI Team in QUERETARO, Mexico receives an amazing opportunity to participate in a Firefighting Training Course led by the Querétaro Fire Department.

Message From Our CEO

Aug 2026

Dear PTI Team,

As we enter the second half of 2026, I want to take a moment to reflect on the remarkable journey our industry and company have experienced over the past five years.

From the unprecedented disruption of COVID-19 in 2020, through semiconductor shortages, inflation, labour constraints, supply chain disruptions, and the uncertainty surrounding the transition to electric vehicles, the automotive industry has faced one challenge after another. Yet throughout these challenges, PTI has remained resilient.

The automotive industry in 2026 looks considerably different than many expected just a few years ago. The narrative has shifted from the rapid replacement of internal combustion vehicles to a more balanced future where traditional powertrains, hybrids, and electric vehicles will coexist for many years to come.

This evolution has positioned PTI favorably. As a company primarily serving the pickup truck and SUV segments, our core markets remain healthy. Production volumes across North America have been stable, and demand for many of the platforms we support continues to be strong. Our major customers—Stellantis, Ford, and General Motors—continue to rely heavily on their truck and SUV portfolios as key drivers of profitability.

While we should remain encouraged, we must also remain vigilant to market demands and volume fluctuations. The second half of 2026 will continue to present challenges, including customer cost pressures, geopolitical uncertainties, tariffs, and increasing expectations for quality, execution, and operational excellence. Success in this environment will depend on our ability to remain agile, disciplined, and focused on continuous improvement.

Our priorities remain clear:

- Deliver flawless quality and service to our customers.
- Eliminate waste and improve operational efficiency and profitability.
- Continue diversifying our customer base and service offerings.
- Invest in our people and strengthen our culture.

The last five years have proven that resilience is one of PTI's greatest strengths. The future will continue to evolve, but I remain extremely confident in our team, our capabilities, and our opportunities ahead. Thank you for your commitment, dedication, and hard work.

Together, we will continue to be Built for What's Next, while remaining Culture Anchored.

Sincerely,
Zack

Dedicated to
Michael Canada Jr
Forever in Our Hearts

To My Friend, Michael Canada Jr. They say a manager leads a team, But you, Michael, taught me what leadership truly means, Not through titles or words, But through your hands, your heart, and your unwavering spirit. You were the first to step forward, Never waiting to be asked. If someone needed help, you were already there, Quietly carrying burdens as if they were your own. Your work ethic couldn't be measured by a clock, Because your direction came from something much deeper. You took pride in every task, And inspired those around you to do the same. Some knew you as coworker. Others knew you as friend. At home, you were a loving father, A devoted son whose love reached beyond words. To me you became more than an employee. You became someone I respected, trusted, and admired. The workplace won't sound the same without your laughter, Or feel the same without your presence. The hardest part of being a manager is knowing that some people simply can't be replaced. Your position may one day be filled, but the space you leave in our hearts never will. Thank you for every early morning, every helping hand, every encouraging smile, and every reminder that kindness and hard work still exist in this world. Rest Respectfully, Michael. Your shift here may be over, but the impact you made will never clock out. You will always be remembered—Not only for the work you did, but for the incredible man you were. Until we meet again, my friend.

Crews Battle Fire

A group of 15 team members—including Supervisors, Team Leaders, and key personnel from each shift—participated in a Firefighting Training Course led by the Querétaro Fire Department on Sunday, June 14. Combining classroom instruction with hands-on exercises, participants learned essential firefighting techniques, including proper hose handling and the different water stream patterns used to attack and control fires.

In addition, participants were shown how to properly don structural firefighting gear, including turnout pants, turnout coat, fire hood, helmet, gloves, and a self-contained breathing apparatus (SCBA).

The practical exercise was conducted in three groups of five participants. Each team responded to a simulated room fire by locating the source of the fire, suppressing it, and performing ventilation procedures to remove smoke and hazardous gases.

Learning About Extortion, Kidnapping, and Workplace Harassment

The Silao Municipal Public Security Department delivered two awareness sessions for our Colinas associates: Extortion & Kidnapping Prevention and Workplace Harassment Awareness. Both sessions were designed to strengthen employees' knowledge and preparedness to help them avoid exposure to these types of situations. The training was led by Commander José Quezada, who recently traveled to Venezuela to support rescue operations for victims affected by the earthquake.

Associates Learn Sign Language

For the first time in PTI Mexico's history, a group of associates from our Toluca operation successfully completed a Basic Sign Language course.

This valuable new skill will help strengthen day-to-day communication, as one of our customers has a workforce that includes deaf and hard-of-hearing team members. By fostering more inclusive communication, our associates are better equipped to collaborate effectively and support a diverse workp.

Learning the basics of sign language inspired more than just the PTI team. As part of their final assessment, participants had the opportunity to communicate remotely with a member of the Deaf community, who engaged in one-on-one conversations with each participant, learning about their questions, career goals, and professional aspirations.

Earthquake Evacuation Drill Conducted

At the beginning of May, associates at our Colinas site in Silao participated in Mexico's National Earthquake Drill, designed to evaluate emergency preparedness and response capabilities in the event of a seismic emergency.

During the exercise, the Safety team reinforced the importance of identifying designated safe areas and following established evacuation procedures. This year's drill simulated an 8.2-magnitude earthquake, helping associates strengthen their readiness and response in the event of a real emergency.
